Dr. Michael Tick

(Boston, MA) Recently, before a nationwide television audience, one of America's leading "Transdermal Infusion" skin specialists Dr. Michael Tick announced a new medical discovery that virtually lifts away lines, wrinkles, crow's feet and dark under-eye circles without the pain of Botox injections or the cost of plastic surgery!

He then described how this wondrous non-surgical procedure, called "Transdermal Infusion", removed 20 years from the appearance of the woman you see above.

And even more exciting, how without risking a single penny you can get a trial supply and prove to yourself how without plastic surgery you can now make your skin look like you've grown nearly a whole generation younger!

Firms and Tightens Facial Skin Tissues

To a nation-wide TV audience Dr. Tick then explained, the reason your skin ages is that the underlying support tissues — that lie in 7 layers of the skin, deep beneath the surface start to grow thinner, shrink and collapse so your skin gradually sags, caves in and begins to wrinkle. That's why plastic surgeons remove collapsed tissues from 7 layers of skin deep down to stimulate production of skin-firming collagen and elastin... and thereby prop up and plump away lines and wrinkles.

PetsQ&A

2 cats, 1 soggy pillow: What's up?

Q My roommate's cat uses my bed for something other than a catnap. She is peeing on it instead of the litter box. C'mon! Lilly's been a good cat, until now. She gets along with my cat Precious just fine. Before you say "close your darn door," somehow she manages to open it. So there! Can you help?

A Precious may not be so precious. One reason cats seek an elevated place to potty is it ensures a good lookout. Precious may intimidate Lilly merely by lying near the litter box entrance or sunning herself in a hallway leading to the box, and Lilly won't dare pass her. Lilly chooses a place with a good view and comfort (hey, it's soft and smells like you).

One solution: Add litter boxes. For two cats, three boxes is ideal. Ensure a good view with uncovered litter boxes.

Take Lilly to a vet to be sure the problem isn't at least partly physical (it occurs more often than people think). Feliway diffusers create a pheromone that might ease tension. ☐
